IS EDUCATION FAILING TO CREATE JOB OPPORTUNITIES?

International Employment Report highlights growing concerns

New Delhi, October 11 (Vedha): The latest International Labour Organization (ILO) and Institute for Human Development (IHD) report has raised serious concerns about the global employment situation. The report says that even after completing higher education, millions of young people are unable to secure suitable jobs. This mismatch between education and industry requirements is becoming a major challenge worldwide.

Key Findings

- Global youth unemployment rate: 29.1%
- Employment growth rate: 3.4%
- Youth not in education, employment or training: 18.4%
- Share of youth in total workforce (2022): 54.2%
- In 2022, 65.7% of youth were employed.

India's Share (2026)

- 56.35% of youth in India were employed, showing some positive progress.

Employment Solutions

- Align education with industry needs.
- Provide skill development and practical training.
- Promote entrepreneurship.
- Create more opportunities in green jobs and digital jobs.
- Strengthen industry–academia partnerships.
- Adopt policies focused on inclusive and sustainable growth.

WHY ARE GRADUATES STRUGGLING IN THE AMERICAN JOB MARKET?

Open Doors 2025 Report: Indian students
